Work and research focus:

My work and research focuses on business taxation and (financial) accounting. I am especially interested in interdisciplinary questions in the areas of business taxation, public finance, and legal tax studies.

My fields of research are

- Direct taxation in the European Union, especially international taxation of companies, families, and pensions
- Key issues of imputing taxable income (neutrality & fairness) and key issues of international and national financial accounting
- Taxable treatment of the minimum existence
- Taxable treatment of old-age provisions, especially pensions schemes
- History of business management, particularly the history of taxation (1600 – present)
