

Einladung zum Gastvortrag

von Neville Morley
(Exeter)

‘TO SEE REASON IN REALITY’: THUCYDIDES AND SACRED HISTORY

Neville Morley is Professor of Classics & Ancient History at the University of Exeter UK. His main research interests are in the modern reception and reinterpretation of antiquity, especially within the social sciences, and in ancient economic and social history, as well as in the theory and methodology of history more generally and the significance of the past for the present.

Books: Thucydides and the Idea of History, London/New York 2014; Thucydides and the Modern World. Reception, Reinterpretation and Influence from the Renaissance to the Present, Cambridge 2012; The Roman Empire. Roots of Imperialism, 2010; Trade in Classical Antiquity, Cambridge 2007; Theories, Models and Concepts in Ancient History, London/New York 2004; Metropolis and Hinterland: the City of Rome and the Italian Economy, 200 BC-AD 200, Cambridge 2002.

Morley's Blog: <https://thesphinxblog.com/about/>

Abb.: Thukydides von Richard Kauffungen (1896) –Parlament Wien
© Wikimedia Commons

Mittwoch, 13.12.2023 | 18:00-19:30 | Seminarraum 7

Ágnes-Heller-Haus (1. Stock), Innrain 52a, 6020 Innsbruck

Organisation: Roland Steinacher