

To Canada with Love and Some Misgivings (1993)

The dreams, concerns and grievances of a number of the populations that make up our wildly diverse country are poignantly revealed in this video. Most of the Canadians we meet are passionately convinced that we must critically examine the founding assumptions of Canada and rebuild the country on new foundations. A fundamental question is posed: Do we have the will and imagination to create a Canada that works for all of us?

Durée/Runtime : 57 min 33 s

Langue/Language : English