Comprehensive Rationalizability

Martin Meier (IHS Vienna)

joint work with Aviad Heifetz and Burkhard Schipper

We present a new solution concept for strategic games called comprehensive rationalizability that embodies "common cautious belief in rationality" based on a sound epistemic characterization in a universal type space. It neither refines nor is refined by iterated admissibility but it coincides with iterated admissibility in many applications in the literature.