

Erhard, A. (2001): Tourism and Acculturation: A Case Study on Lamu Island. In: Southern Africa 2001: A Space Odyssey. Geographical Perspectives on Habitat and Resources, S. 113-121.

Abstract

Tourism in developing nations has long been an issue for social sciences. However, in Africa research on a micro level has been rare so far. This paper therefore presents some results of field studies undertaken in the years 1999 and 2000 on Lamu Island.