

DECLARATION OF CONSENT

Please also read the FAQ!
(Please only mark applicable fields).

I am the publisher of a digital literature magazine and I agree that

- this periodical will be included in the database for capturing of digital literature magazines supervised by Dilimag, and will be included into the long term archive digital repository supervised by Dilimag.
- Dilimag* will provide unrestricted access to the content of the archived version of the periodical.
- Dilimag* will provide restricted access for research and educational purposes to the content of the archived version of the periodical.

To ensure the long-term correctness of the data, would you please inform us about any changes regarding the periodical (changes of title, format, subscription guidelines, URL, etc.).

1. Title of the periodical:

2 Is your digital periodical available in a printed edition?

if yes:

a) Is the printed edition basically identical with the digital format?

If not, would you please give us some additional details details:

b) Is the printed version released

- prior to the digital version?
- simultaneously with the digital version?
- after the digital version?

3. The electronic periodical offers versions as:

4. How is the first issue numbered? (e.g.: no., issue)

5. When was the first issue actually put online? Please give us the exact date:

6. When do new issues appear? When and how often is the webpage updated?

7. ISSN:

8. URL (Uniform Resource Location) :

9. Do you have an internal archive to provide access to previous issues?

If yes, to what extent (all issues, etc.)?

10. Have any measures been taken for long-term preservation?

If yes, in what kind of form (digital repository, digital type of media, print edition) and to what extent?

11. Was your periodical published online under a different title at a previous date?

Different title:

Different imprint:

Different ISSN:

12. Was your periodical published in print edition at a previous date?

Title of the previous print edition:

ISSN of the previous print edition:

Imprint of the previous print edition:

My name and last name:

Date:

The project team wants to thank for your effort!