International Students Documentation of Financial Support

All international applicants requesting visa eligibility documents (I-20 for F-1 students or DS-2019 for J-1 students) are required to demonstrate adequate financial resources to cover the cost of education in the United States. Financial documentation is required as part of the application process in order for visa eligibility documents (I-20 for F-1 students or DS-2019 for J-1 students) to the U.S. to be issued. Please see Financial Information for the minimum U.S. dollar amounts required.

Funds may come from any dependable source including scholarships, sponsoring organizations, personal funds or funds from the student's family. Funding documents should be dated no more than six months previous to application to UNO. Original documents are preferred, but scanned/fax documents will be accepted for the initial review process. Original documents or additional information may be required to verify accuracy of financial support documentation. Personal and/or family funds must be submitted on the official letterhead stationery of the bank/financial institution along with a signature or stamp of an administrative officer or official, and must verify that the required amount specified in Financial Information is available for your studies. All letters should be in English and figures stated in U.S. currency (preferred) or home country currency. Please note you will be required to show original financial support documentation when applying for the F-1/J-1 visa at the U.S. Consulate or Embassy.
