

Progress in teamwork on RecoVET project results

The project team focused on two main issues after the third transnational meeting in Valencia. Firstly, a beta version of the RecoVET manual was finalised. Each project team enriched the manual with an additional chapter reflecting the national experiences of the evaluators in vocational education and training for refugees. This makes it possible to provide a broader EU picture on this topic. At the same time, this chapter allowed for an examination of specific challenges in certain regions. Although a country comparison is not intended, this contribution enriches the knowledge of all partner countries and contributes to the exchange of experiences. Furthermore, at the third transnational project meeting in Valencia, the partners agreed to create a series of additional media units to further visualise selected indicators.

Examples of additional media units.

The media used include a video interview with subtitles and a combination of the video interview and animated elements.

Online meeting in September 2023

In September 2023, the project partners met again online. During this exchange, they focused intensively on the work packages related to the translation of the content of the project results.

Online meeting of the project partners on 25 September 2023.

The online tool will be available as a beta version towards the end of 2023 after translation into three other languages (Italian, Spanish and German). This ambitious task requires a creative effort from all participants and a high level of communication and teamwork. Therefore, the deadlines were discussed and set in detail by all meeting participants. In addition, the meeting served to inform the project partners about the online survey that will take place in winter 2023/24. The partners were able to exchange information about the process of selecting and contacting potential respondents for the survey in each country.
