

Translation of the RecoVET project results into the respective national languages finalised

In autumn 2023, the project team focused on translating all project results into the partners' national languages. As part of this intensive and challenging work, all elements of the online tool were translated. This included the translation of the Videoscribe-videos and podcasts as well as the translation of the additional media units. The RecoVET manual was also translated, resulting in the four original versions of the manual. The toolbox was also finalised and translated into the four languages to act as support material for the project target group.

Online meeting in December 2023

The project partners met online again before Christmas. There was an intensive exchange on the status of the project results. The partners also agreed on how to proceed with the online survey, which is intended to give the target group of evaluators the opportunity to test the online tool in conjunction with the handbook and toolbox in all four languages. Initially, the online survey questions will be revised by all project participants and finally the links to the respective national online surveys will be made available to the evaluators in each partner country in early 2024. This approach could allow the partners to use the winter months to get the valuable feedback from the target group.

The international RecoVET-team wishes all its members, associated partners, evaluators and other supporters a Merry Christmas and a successful New Year 2024!
