

Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing to you regarding the advertisement for volunteering work in Jamaica at the website www.volunteeringindisasters.com.

Always I wanted to help people in countries with natural disasters, since I think that lending a hand to people in need is a must in a person's ⁵⁰ life. Also my school is part of a project in our country to help poor people, so I already know some basic ~~and~~ skills on how to treat them. One has to be open and friendly all the time to gain the trust of these people.

As well it's very important ¹⁰⁰ to have leadership qualities, as these people need a person they can trust on.

In school I learned Spanish for three years and English for nine years, so it shouldn't be a problem to communicate with the local inhabitants.

Also I am active in the student council and called the organization ¹⁵⁰ genius because I plan all the meetings and festivals in school without problems.

I easily adjust to unfamiliar environment and I am not afraid to overcome any obstacles, therefore I ~~suppose this~~ believe that this volunteering work is a perfect opportunity to broaden my horizons and I am an ideal member ^{for} your helper team.

I hope for a positive reply from your side.

Yours faithfully,
