Curriculum for the Diploma Programme Catholic Theology at the Faculty for Catholic Theology at the University of Innsbruck

§ 1 Allocation

The Diploma Programme in Catholic Theology is allocated to the group of theological study programmes.

§ 2 Qualification profile and study objectives

- (1) The Diploma Programme in Catholic Theology offers a comprehensive and specialised theological training in that it imparts the most important theological problems, the approaches towards their solution in the past and present and their relevance for today's church and society. The main content includes the core subject groups of biblical, historical, systematic and practical theology as well as the philosophical foundation necessary for studying theology. The Faculty of Catholic Theology of the University of Innsbruck traditionally has a special focus on subjects of systematic theology. In addition to the subject-specific content competence, graduates also acquire the methodological skills required for the independent advanced study of the contents and thus for a scientifically responsible approach to faith and religion in the public. The study programme promotes interdisciplinary competence (with special emphasis on the question of truth in the sciences) and the social and communicative skills of the students and enables them to recognize the unity of the Christian faith in the diversity of its cultural manifestations. Therefore, the study programme prepares for professions in science, church but also the public that require a specialised knowledge in theology.
- (2) In particular, the graduates acquire the following qualifications:
 - They are able to perceive theological questions and deal with them independently.
 - They can see the various statements of faith in their context from their own inner centre.
 - They can judge the ecclesiastical and social reality from the point of view of the Christian faith, taking into account the knowledge of relevant individual sciences.
 - They are able to use the relevant sources and literature for the professional tasks.
 - They are capable of dealing with the basic biblical documents and with central traditions of Christianity in a historically and source-critical manner, as well as with their methodically well-founded interpretation.
 - They are capable of critical and constructive participation in public discourse in church and society.
 - They can integrate the theological expertise into their own personality.

- (3) The Diploma Programme in Catholic Theology prepares in particular for the following professions:
- for work in academic theology;
 - for all professions in relation to the ordination;
 - for all pastoral careers that require an academic qualification;
 - qualified work and leadership positions in the Church;
 - for work in the public that requires special competence in questions of worldview and orientation.
- (4) The internal order of the study programme is based on the ecclesiastical legal bases according to the Apostolic Constitution Veritatis gaudium, the ordinations issued for this purpose, the decree of accommodation to the Apostolic Constitution Sapientia christiana for the Catholic theological faculties in Austria, the circulars (Lettere circolari) of the Congregation for Catholic Education and the framework of the Austrian Bishops' Conference.

§ 3 Scope and duration

The Diploma Programme in Catholic Theology is structured in two study parts. The first part of the study programme covers 180 ECTS-Credits. This corresponds to a study duration of four semesters.

§ 4 Types of courses and maximum number of students per course

- (1) Types of courses without continuous performance assessment:
Lectures (VO) are courses held in lecture format. They introduce the research areas, methods and schools of thought for a given subject. No maximum number of participants.
- (2) Courses with continuous performance assessment:
1. Lectures with integrated practical parts (VU) focus on the practical treatment of concrete scientific tasks that are discussed during the lecture parts of the course. Maximum number of participants: 126
 2. Proseminars (PS) introduce students interactively to a subject area and impart knowledge and methods of scientific working. Maximum number of participants: 25
 3. Seminars (SE) provide in-depth treatment of scientific topics through students' presentations and discussion thereof. Maximum number of participants: 20
 4. Practical courses (UE) focus on the practical treatment of concrete scientific tasks within an area. Maximum number of participants: 25
 5. Excursions (EX) take place outside the university and serve to provide practical experiences outside the course and deepen course contents. Maximum number of participants: 25

§ 5 Allocation of places in courses with a limited number of participants

In courses with a limited number of participants, course places are allocated as follows:

1. Students for whom the study duration would be extended due to the postponement are to be given priority.
2. If criterion no. 1 does not suffice for regulating the admission, then first, students for whom the course is part of a compulsory module are to be given priority, and second, students for whom the course is part of an elective module.
3. If the criteria in no. 1 and 2 do not suffice for regulating the admission, then the available places are raffled
