BIP – Olomouc Linguistics Colloquium

General Linguistics conference organized from 8 to 10 June, 2023

The Olomouc Linguistics Colloquium (Olinco) is a general linguistics conference held biannually at Palacký University Olomouc, Czech Republic.

The conference covers synchronic or diachronic aspects of grammar, phonology, semantics, and pragmatics, among others.

This year, there will be three specialized workshops and three keynote speeches by renowned European linguists including Ekkehard König, Marcel den Dikken, and Kateřina Chládková.

Both academic staff and students can join in as members of audience and apply for a short-term Erasmus training mobility known as a BIP (a Blended Intensive Programme) at their home institution to get the mobility funded. Participation is free for BIP-funded participants.
