

Living Communication in Diverse (German/African) Biographical Backgrounds Dr.ⁱⁿ Gunda Werner / Ph. D. Stan Chu Ilo

As an African theologian interested in the place of African Christianity in transforming the painful lives of African and as European female Theologian interested in doing theology with the hope for a theodicy-sensible theology we want ask: Does the wisdom of our Christian heritage embody a strong ethnic, biographical, sexual and gender perspectives?

Does Communicative Theology offer new aspects of communication, on how to do theology and promote living together in the complex cultural and religious diversity of our world? Does the Christian heritage need the challenge of CT as a power-equal space in order to give credence to the reality of ethnic, sexual, gender backgrounds in editing or writing the biographies of individuals and groups? What are our hopes and visions as Christian in this world and does CT offer any benchmarks? This workshop will do what CT is: to communicate and do theology with and in diversity.

Gunda Werner ist wissenschaftliche Mitarbeiterin am Lehrstuhl für Dogmatik und Dogmengeschichte an der Ruhr-Universität Bochum.

Stan Chu Ilo ist Professor an der Universität Toronto für den Bereich Religion und Erziehung.