

Course Requirements for Writing Courses

In the writing courses, written production, written interaction and (indirectly) receptive skills are assessed.

The final examination for the writing courses at B2 Level is a written examination using the text formats covered in the course: brief summary and written opinion on a given topic.

A prerequisite for obtaining a course completion certificate requires that participants, in addition to the final examination, also submit a written assignment on a given topic.

A prerequisite for obtaining a course completion certificate for the writing courses at C1 Level is a written examination using the following text formats covered in the course: executive summary, summary and written commentary on a given topic.

In addition, the completion of a written seminar paper on a given theme is a prerequisite for participation in the final examination.
