

Raymund Schwager Memorial Award 2010

To honor the memory of Raymund SCHWAGER, SJ (□ 2004), the Colloquium on Violence and Religion is offering an award of $ 1,500 shared by up to three persons for the three best papers given by graduate students at the COV&R 2010 meeting at the University of Notre Dame.

Students presenting papers at the conference are invited to apply for the Raymund Schwager Memorial Award by sending a letter to that effect and the full text of their paper (in English, maximum length: 10 pages) in an e-mail attachment Ann Astell (aastell@nd.edu), organizer of COV&R 2010 and chair of the three-person COV&R Awards Committee.

Due date for submission is the closing date of the conference registration. Winners will be announced in the conference program. Prize-winning essays should reflect an engagement with mimetic theory; they will be presented in a plenary session and be considered for publication in Contagion.