2018 RICHARD WALLIN BOEBEL LECTURE IN ARCHAEOLOGY AND PRESERVATION

Lecture: The Archaeology of World War II in Western Austria

University Professor Dr. Harald Stadler, University of Innsbruck

Date: Thursday, January 4

Time: 5:30 pm

Location: BB's Stage Door Canteen,

National World War II Museum

FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC!

Join us, as Dr. Harald Stadler, University Professor and former Director of the Institute for Archaeology at the University of Innsbruck, Austria, will present a lecture on the archaeology of World War II in western Austria. Dr. Stadler is a leading authority on the archaeology of twentieth century conflicts in central Europe, particularly on 'glacier archaeology' in the Alps. His lecture will span many projects, including investigations of U.S. and German aircraft crash sites, research on trench art from the forced labor camp at Haiming, archaeology of an execution site in Innsbruck, and efforts to commemorate Allied airmen lost in the Tyrol.

Sponsored by the Richard Wallin Boebel Endowed Chair in Anthropology at the University of New Orleans, with the support of the UNO Departments of Planning and Urban Studies, Anthropology and Sociology, and History and Philosophy, the Austrian Marshall Plan Center for European Studies, and the National World War II Museum.

This event is free and open to the public. The lecture will be held in BB's Stage Door Canteen at The National WWII Museum (through the Solomon Victory Theater entrance on Andrew Higgins Drive).
